

know, put an "s" in front of it. Because they didn't have certificates for women so they had to write the ss in.

Pitt: Another uncle was the lieutenant governor of Nova Scotia or New Brunswick.

Byl: Could be Nova Scotia.

Pitt: But he doesn't look like his sister, but the other one did a bit. And there were two women in Toronto that were very prominent and one was W.D. Ross's widow, and Mrs Dr Star, I think, and they always both wore bands in their hair. And they both went to concerts together. And as Mrs. Ross got older she got even more friendly, you know, whenever she'd see me she'd come over and sit by me or talk to me or you know. And I was Mary Barker's friend you see. But every concert you would go to, these two would be sitting in amongst the front row I think. They were sort of a landmark. You know what I mean, in the auditorium they'd be in a crowd and they'd always seem to be able to find me (something). Another funny thing I did was, I had a lot of hallucinations from a drug that didn't agree with me when I had my operation. And oh I had all kinds of good stories, the nurses loved to hear me babble on. Strange things that happened to me, like getting locked in a museum, you know. Eaton's had been robbed and I was mixed up in that, not a suspect, but on how to catch them, and tried to get out of being locked in very strange places. And while I thought of them I made a tape of them, but now I can't find the tape though. I just called it hallucinations you know. That's what you think of when you're not you. But it's informative you know.

Byl: I'll clean up these cords for a minute.

Pitt:Here's the winter olympics that I came to. I have one on Denmark I have to do. And this is the Donills Street school in 1926. That's a long time ago.

Byl: I'm just wondering, uhh.

Pitt:How old are you now?

Byl: Me? I'm 39, I was born in 1953.

Pitt:Oh, just a kid.

Byl: Ha-ha-ha-ha.

Pitt:She talks about some guy jumping off the roof and going right by her window. She was impressed with how she got around New York herself. Something about the first American group to Denmark. We were the first graduates to go over as a body you know. Do you want to hear just a little of the, olympic, or denmark tape.

Byl: Maybe the olympics.

Pitt:Just to give you an idea of what it's like. And I described Hitler, he's there.

Byl: Did you make up these tapes recently or did you make them at the time?

Pitt:These are from notes I had from way back, and I just did it recently.

Setting up to play the tape

Pitt: It's not valuable information. I go to an air raid practice, I may need that out for tonight, I don't know.

Byl: Oh, ok. Should I just leave it there.

Pitt: I haven't decided what I'm going to show tonight, I may look over my Killarney pictures. But there is a lot of interesting stuff, where no one talks about a possible war, except when your out in a field away from anybody, anywhere.

Byl: You talk about the work we did on trying to figure out who the PE Directors at particular YWCA's were during the 1930's and so on.

The Margaret Eaton School Digital Collection is a not-for-profit resource created in 2014-2015 to assist scholars, researchers, educators, and students to discover the Margaret Eaton School archives housed in the Peter Turkstra Library at Redeemer University College. Copyright of the digital images is the property of Redeemer University College, Ancaster, Canada and the images may not be copied or emailed to multiple sites without the copyright holder's express written permission. However, users may print, download, or email digital images for individual non-commercial use. To learn more about this project or to search the digital collection, go to <http://libguides.redeemer.ca/mes>.